Welcome to Henry Moore Studios & Gardens, the home and workplace of sculptor Henry Moore (1898 - 1986). This leaflet contains a map, to guide you around our sculpture gardens, and information about the history of the studios and works that you will see. If you would like to know more Moore, his art and our site during your visit, please ask a member of our staff.

Henry Moore and his wife Irina moved to Perry Green in 1940, after their London home was damaged during the Blitz. They lived in the village for the rest of their lives and it was here, in the studios, that the artist created many of his most famous works.

Unfortunately, Hoglands, the Moore’s home, is not open to visitors in 2020.

VISITING SAFELY
When visiting the Studios & Gardens, with social distancing in place, we ask you to observe the following guidelines to enable everyone to safely enjoy their visit.

- Please stay in your household group and keep 2m distance from other visitors and our staff.
- Please read and observe the on-site signage.
- Please listen to instructions from our staff members.
- Please do not touch the artworks.
- Please do not stand or climb on the sculptures or plinths.
- Please wash your hands frequently and avoid touching your face.
- No flash photography in any building.
- Be aware of unfenced ponds in the gardens.
- Please picnic only in the areas indicated on the map.
- Please dispose of all waste in the bins and recycling points provided.
- No ball games.
- No dogs or other pets. Badged assistance dogs are welcome.

CAFÉ AND PICNICS
Our café is open from 11am until 3.15pm, serving a limited menu of takeaway drinks and snacks from the side door of the visitor centre. All items are served in disposable containers which we ask you to place in the bins/recycle points provided.

We have two picnic areas where you can enjoy your own refreshments. These are located in Elmwood Garden (near the Archive) and by Large Figure in a Shelter. Our picnic tables are cleaned regularly.

HENRY MOORE FRIENDS
Henry Moore Friends help us to maintain Henry Moore’s legacy and preserve his home for future generations. Memberships also allow us to run our free educational programmes and support sculpture research, exhibitions and projects through the Henry Moore Grants programme.

Friends enjoy a range of benefits, including free entry to the Studios & Gardens. We offer the chance to upgrade your day ticket to a Friends membership in the gift shop.

STUDIOS (CLOSED)
Henry Moore worked in several studios across the estate, often repurposing outbuildings or sheds for his needs. One of his first studios, near Hoglands, was once the village shop. Each studio reveals a different element of Moore’s working practice, including carving, drawing and the creation of plaster maquettes.

Five of the studios are open for you to visit this year (the Etching Studio is closed). Please observe visitor limits and listen to instructions from our staff.

The Aisled Barn is a 16th century building that Moore had moved to the estate and reconstructed in 1981. Today it houses unique tapestries - based on original drawings - which Moore commissioned from West Dean College. The weavers worked with his original drawings and photographs, dying the wool to achieve the precise colours of the drawings and mixing threads to suggest different drawing media.

GIFT SHOP (ONLINE ONLY)
The gift shop will be closed during our Winter weekends. You can purchase a selection of our books and gifts online at www.henry-moore.org/shop

Due to government recommendations, we have a reduced staff team on site. Please allow extra time for delivery of your online order.
